The microwave drying equipment uses microwave to heat the material in a non-contact manner, which overcomes the shortcomings of the traditional process, and the effect is more significant. The relatively hot characteristics of the microwave make the surface and the inside of the material uniformly heated at the same time, the heating speed is fast, and the work efficiency is high. While drying and dehydrating, microwave can also achieve the purpose of sterilizing food.

Microwave heating is the overall heating, that is, heating, the internal and external heating of the material, not the heat of the traditional heating method is conducted from the surface layer of the material.Fast, efficient, safe and environmentally friendly.

What is the working principle of Industrial Tunnel Microwave Food Power Drying Sterilization Machine?

Microwave is a sort of electromagnetic wave which frequency is 300ghz. The water molecule in medium material is polar molecule, under the effect of the repaid change of electromagnetic field, it is polarity orientation will alter with the changes of external electric field with high-speed, causing the movements and friction of molecule, so that the microwave field energy can be converted to heat energy in medium to rise the temperature of materials, accomplishing heating, puffing and a series of physical processes and so microwave is achieved.
