

Biscuit production line operation process

Detail Introduction :

The biscuit production line is mainly used in the food processing industry. The factory can use the equipment to produce various types of biscuits, such as buffet biscuits, tough biscuits, small sods, cookies, sandwich biscuits, and egg rolls, the application is very broad. The biscuits produced are recognized by consumers, and the market demand is enormous.